

JUBILEE JOTTINGS.

Let us celebrate.
The celebration is open to all.
The Third warders are kickers.
The procession will be immense.
The line of march will be sprinkled.
The police will also be mounted.
The goddess will have a gallant escort.

Tennessee talent will be abundant to-day.

Don't keep the procession waiting for you.

The "states" will be a galaxy of beauty.

Fort Worth never does things by halves.

Bring your baskets and invite your friends.

To-day will be a genuine unvarnished holiday.

The big guns will wake you this morning.

Some of the wagons won't get over the bridge.

The third ward would kick at a phantom.

The enthusiasm only got a good start yesterday.

The firemen will acquire the confectionery.

There will be some nobby rigs in the procession.

The police will be too utterly nobby for anything.

The Sheriff's office will turn out like patriots.

The Tennessee editors will join in our festivities.

In looking at the sights don't forget the GAZETTE office.

The condition of the streets will control the line of march.

Those who don't enjoy themselves can blame themselves.

The police force and sheriff's posse will lead the procession.

The "goddess" and "states" will be the cynosure of all eyes.

The merchants of Fort Worth will exhibit their patriotism.

The Tennessee editors should not be forgotten in the general abandon.

The grand procession will start at eleven whether you are there or not.

Stanley & Haymaker will thoroughly sprinkle the streets along the line of march.

No flirting with the "States" will be permitted. Texas always did believe in state sovereignty.

Visiting firemen in uniform will be transported from the depot to the hotels free, in the omnibuses.

Look at the "Goddess" and "States" and swear that Fort Worth can out-breathe the continent of America.

Eight attaches of the sheriff's office will turn out to-day, wearing white sombreros, blue shirts and pants, and the national colors entwined in a rosette.

Why this noise, bustle and gladness, holiday feasting and firing of guns?

The veriest wretch seems free from all sadness, the pulses beat high in Columbia's sons.

The star of the nation is in the ascendent, the people rejoice as if after a war, with some foreign nation wherein we were victors and soldiers returned from fighting afar.

Joy seems depicted on every countenance: the air rings with shouts from the boys and the men; the streets are all gay with proud streaming of banners; the spirit of our fathers is with us again.

The patriarch grey and the child escaped cradle are bandied together with one object in view—the celebration of the national birthday, in a manner befitting patriots true.

FINE FURNITURE.

Fakes & Co., the Boss Furniture Men of Northwest Texas.

Among the leading houses in our city that merit special notice for their style of doing business, the qualities of goods carried in stock, and their ability to meet in full all the requirements of the trade, we mention the firm of Fakes & Co., dealers in furniture and house-furnishing goods. Messrs. Fakes & Co. are furniture men in the strict sense of the term. They selected that branch of business because it suited them, and have followed it till they learned to love it. They are as familiar with the minutia of the business as a child is with its letters, and can make it to their interest to give their customers the benefit of their information and superior advantages. In the trade, some of the most elegant bedroom and parlor sets ever brought to the state passed through the hands of Fakes & Co., and they have goods now in stock seldom seen in the more pretentious houses of older cities. A visit to their establishment will convince anyone that they are in fact as name the furniture men of North Texas.

FOURTH, JULY FOURTH.

Combs, Read & Co., the Live Grocers of the City still in the ring.

Among the enterprising grocery firms of the city we mention as one of the most active and wide awake, that of Combs, Read & Co., next door to the postoffice. Though in the grocery business less than ten months in the city, they have made rapid strides from the very start and are now contending earnestly for the leadership in the retail. They handle only the best quality of goods, and a guarantee accompanies every package sold. Their business has been liberally advertised from the beginning, and this morning they present each reader of the GAZETTE with their compliments, a copy of the declaration of independence. Mr. Combs, the business manager for the firm is a tireless worker, a man who understands his business thoroughly and an accomplished gentleman. To him the house is indebted for its present popularity, and the brightness that glids its future.

The Gun Club.

Not the least interesting of the many arrangements made for the entertainment of the public to-day will be the pigeon shooting by the gun club of the city. Five hundred birds have been secured, and some rare sport is anticipated.

THE CASH SYSTEM.

What It Has Done and Will Do If Strictly Adhered To.

The present success of Malone, Waller & Co. is due, in a great measure, to their strict adherence to the cash system. They keep no books, employ no bookkeeper, or collector, but do their own work and sell always for spot cash. The result of this course has been a gradual increase of business since their first opening, and their sales for the past month show an improvement of more than a hundred per cent over their business for the month of June in 1882. Their style of doing business enables them to give customers the benefit of their advantages, and whenever they sell a bill they convert a man. Their stock embraces every article to be found in a first-class dry goods establishment, and the quality and low price sells them. Their bill in orders for the present season have by far exceeded anything of the kind in the past, and last week they were obliged to add two salesmen to their corps of assistants. Malone, Waller & Co. have demonstrated beyond all possible doubt that the cash system is the system for both buyers and sellers.

A special invitation to examine their stock and prices is extended to all; and if best quality of goods at bottom rates is any indication, you will not go beyond their house.

Hunter Bres.

Will open a photographic establishment at the corner of Weatherford and Main streets. They will introduce the instantaneous process and make it pay's pictures a specialty. Parties wishing photographs of buildings will do well to send the orders in at once.

Extend the Track.

Many people south of the railroad are complaining because the street railway company is not extending its track south of the track as proposed by the charter. Section 4 of Ordinance 266 provides that said company within and during the year 1883 shall extend, build, equip and keep in good running order said street railroad across the T. & P. and across the T. & P. donation, and for at least one-half mile south of the line of the said Texas & Pacific railroad donation.

It is said that the company would like to dodge the above section and leave the terminus of the track where it is at present. The population beyond the track is not so dense as on this side, and the managers are afraid that it would not pay to extend the line. But as the stockholders of the company are making about 320 per cent on the original investment, the people think they can afford to put down a little more track, and are keeping close watch to see that the contract embodied in the charter is carried out.

Mr. W. Bolding, Hamilton, Texas, says: "Brown's Iron Bitters cure me of biliousness and general depression."

The Rev. Geo. H. Thayer, of Bourne, Ind., says: "Both myself and wife owe our lives to Shiloh's Consumption Cure. Sold by L. N. Bruns-wig & Co.

Fancy Candy, Confectioneries, Fruit, Nuts and Cigars.

For some weeks past all of the available force has been on extra duty at the manufacturing establishment of Capera & Bro. Orders for Fourth of July goods have been coming in thick and fast and left them little time for parade preparations. Amid all the bustle, however, their stock has been well kept up, and this morning finds them beautifully supplied with the finest fruits, nuts and cigars to be had in the city. Their house is headquarters for pure home-made candy and confectioneries, and ice cream and soda water for the multitude has been provided.

That Capera & Bro. are the "boss" ice cream men of the city a visit to their elegant parlor on Houston street leaves no room for doubt. Mr. Byrd, the dispenser of drinks, presides over the soda fountain, and was never known to miscue in the preparation of a glass of soda. When the sun grows warm don't forget the popular establishment of Capera & Bro.

Use Texas Chili Syrup, Dashwood & King sole agents.

For lame back, side or chest use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Price 25 cents. Sold by L. N. Bruns-wig & Co.

Housekeepers and Consumers

Will save money by buying Wrisley's soaps, which are sold by all druggists. Among their celebrated brands are the "Linens," "White Velvet," "German English," "Gold Medal," "3-pound Bar," each bar wrapped in a colored table napkin; also, their "New Tidy soap, 2-pound Bar," each bar wrapped in a Japanese taffy, made of pure vegetable oil and tallow. The best is the cheapest. Be sure and see that each bar or cake is branded "G. A. Wrisley & Co., Chicago, Ill."

Get some of the "Three Jackass" cards.

Trouble at the Round-house.

A few days ago an order was given reducing the mechanics in the Texas & Pacific machine shops and roundhouse to eight hours of labor daily. As the men are paid by the hour, they did not take kindly to the order, and yesterday morning all the machinists refused to go to work. It is said that like reduction has been made at all points along the Gould system of railroads.

Mother's!

The lives of your teething children are saved by using Brown's Blackberry Ginger. IT IS PERFECTLY SAFE.

Triplets.

Julius Freeman was the recipient of three bouncing baby boys on Monday. They are as much alike as three P's, and are marked with red, white and blue ribbons to distinguish one from the other. Dr. W. P. Burts made the presentation address. Mother and children are all doing well. Two of them weighed when born five pounds each and the third was six pounds.

Texas Chili syrup stands peerless as a chili remedy. Dashwood & King sole agents.

Bear it in Mind.

Any delay on the part of those who will participate in the procession to-day will inconvenience all who are waiting in the column for those who are behind. It will be a little warm on the streets, and everyone should be on the grounds promptly, for assignment to their places in the column.

Go and see somethin' new in toilet soaps and imported perfumes at Dashwood & King's drug store.

The "Three Jackasses." When shall we meet again.
